DEDICATION

Above all, the teacher is an example—an example of the person we wish to emulate. One such teacher, especially, embodies the ideals which we value. He is a model of candor, a paragon of creativity, and the epitome of humility. He is Dr. Ernest B. Fincher.

Respectfully, the class of 1961 dedicates this year-book to a master teacher, Dr. Fincher.

ERNEST B. FINCHER, PH.D.

A TRIBUTE

This is the last year that W. Paul Hamilton and Robert W. McLachlan will be teaching at Montclair State College. Through the years they have upheld the highest standards of scholarship and academic excellence. As they leave we thank them for their counsel, inspiration, and friendship.

FOREWORD

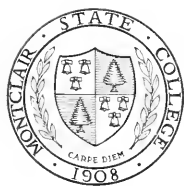

LA CAMPANA 1961 attempts to capture the varied impressions of campus life. It was written to be read now or ten years from now, with the sole purpose of conveying what Montclair was like in 1961.

With its emphasis on self-realization, Montclair State College constantly strives to maintain a balance between a liberal education and specialization. . . .

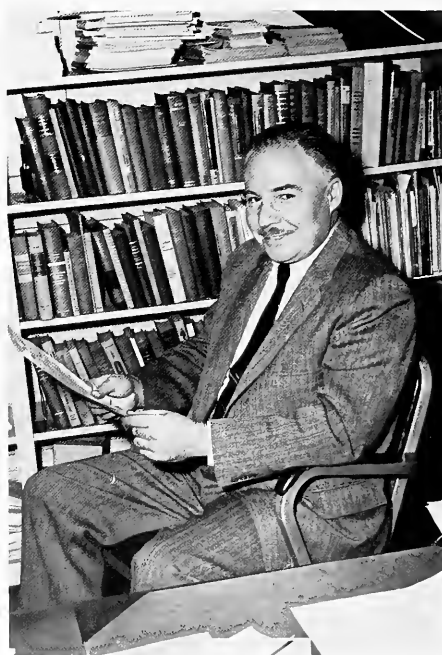

The library and audio-visual center are vital parts of the curriculum. At the core of preparation is a growing appreciation for the advanced principles of education. . . .

AGORA SHOW

The 1960 Agora Show displayed some of the undiscovered talents of the Men of Agora. Highlights of the evening were a tumbling act and a reasonable facsimile of the Campus Queen Assembly. The performance was surprisingly well-coordinated, and orange juice was sold during the intermission to make it real "theatre."

PANZER DEMONSTRATION

The Panzer Demonstration, which began as a part of the graduation exercise of Panzer College, has now become an annual "Spring Demonstration" in which all physical education majors at Montclair participate.

This year's demonstration was presented to capacity crowds and featured recreational games, folk and modern dances, and gymnastics. A highlight of the evening was a comic performance on the trampoline.

CAMPUS QUEEN DANCE

In Montclair's second-largest election, Joan Coppola was chosen the thirteenth annual Campus Queen. The Men of Phi Lambda Pi miraculously transformed the cafeteria into a swank Parisian bistro, where 1959 Queen Fran Fallavollita crowned her successor.

The Campus Queen Dance was founded in 1947 by the Men of Phi and has since become an important part of the MSC social scene. This year fifty-eight girls competed for the coveted title and trophy.

SGA CONCERTS

The Board of Trustees of the SGA sponsored two concerts this year: the spring concert featured the Hi-Los and George Shearing, and the fall concert presented the Brothers Four.

Demonstrating a unique talent for vocal gymnastics, the Hi-Los sang a series of songs with a new touch. The exciting Shearing sounds spread through the audience in familiar numbers displaying the versatility of this jazz-great. The Brothers Four captivated the audience with a series of folk songs and old standards.

The student body is anxiously awaiting the day when the SGA can again afford to bring such outstanding performances to the campus.

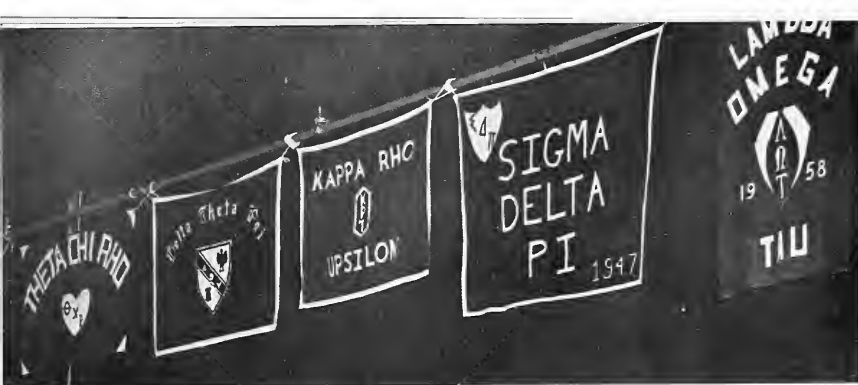

CARNIVAL

Tin Pan Alley came to Montclair last May when the annual Spring Carnival invaded the campus for two days. The cold weather and the hot food, the high-bell and the farina throw, and the hubbub of spirited crowds all contributed to the thrill and excitement of a true carnival atmosphere. Frenchmen, hillbillies, rock-and-rollers, and Bohemian jazz musicians all worked together to make "Tin Pan Alley" a social and financial success.

GREEK SING

Despite a siege of unexpected illnesses, participation in Dalphac's Fourth Annual Greek Sing was at an all time maximum. The Men of Lambda Chi Delta sang their way to first place with an outstanding performance of all-American songs, and the Women of Kappa Rho Upsilon and Theta Chi Rho placed second and third, respectively.

Montclair's answer to Sing Along With Mitch—Sing Along with Tony—lightened the seriousness of competition and gave the audience an opportunity to exercise their vocal chords.

Once again the Greek Sing took a step forward in bringing various organizations closer together in friendly competition.

FACULTY SHOW

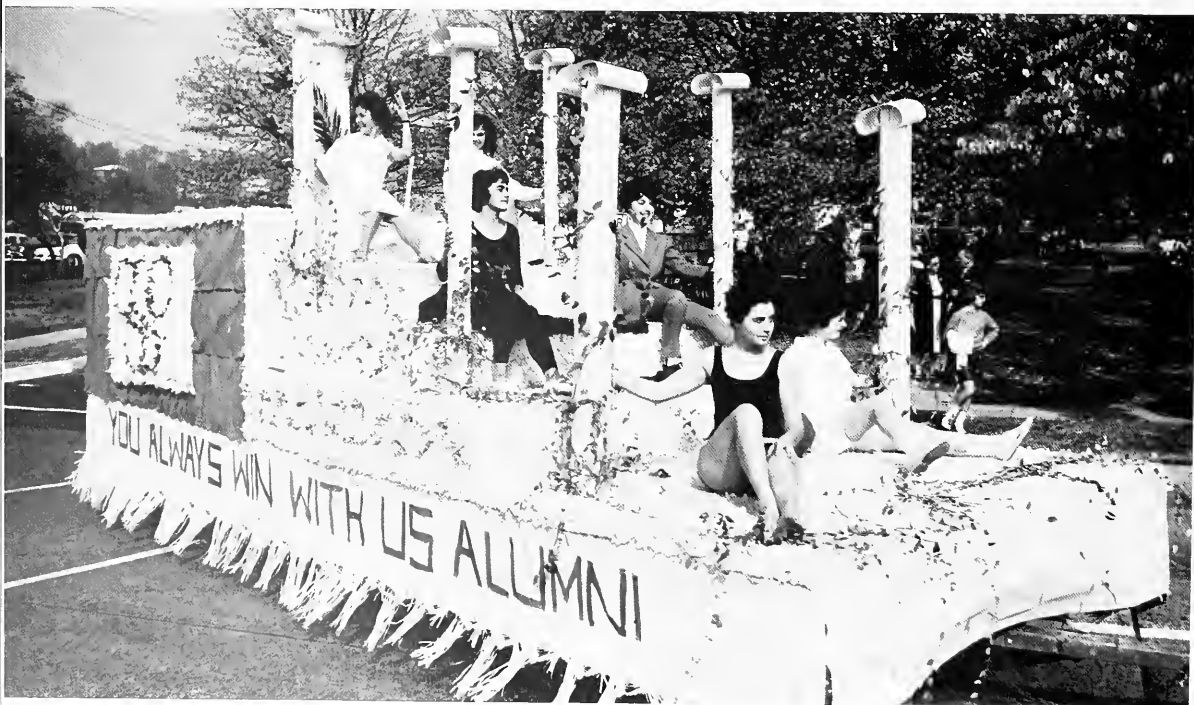

The would-be politicians and would-be actors of the faculty presented their own version of a political satire in this year's Faculty Show. An original operetta, Say Nothing Loudly, proved that college professors can sometimes be as uninhibited as any of their students.

HOMECOMING

Minus the usual raincoats and umbrellas, a record number of alumni returned to campus this year for "Suddenly It's 1960." They watched their Alma Mater win a tense and exciting football game after the colorful float parade. During the half-time intermission, prizes were awarded by Boosters' Association to Delta Theta Psi, Lambda Chi Delta, and the Sophomore Class for outstanding floats.

MOC CONCERTS

This year MOC presented a series of concerts featuring students and guest performers. The highlight of the series was a recital by the famous basso, Jerome Hines.

OPERA WORKSHOP PRODUCTION

Opera Workshop's fall production this year was a sparkling performance of the comic-opera Orpheus in the Underworld. An expert cast delighted the audience with the high professional quality of the presentation.

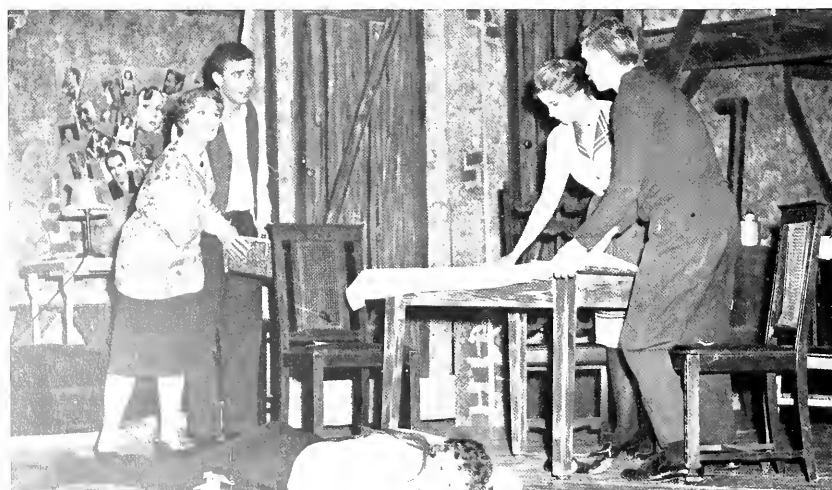

THE GREAT BIG DOORSTEP

Players journeyed to the Bayou country of Louisiana for the scene of their spring production, The Great Big Doorstep. The poignant story of a destitute Cajun family whose crumbling home was brightened only by a regal front doorstep was admirably brought to life by a talented Players cast.

PLAYERS' PRODUCTIONS

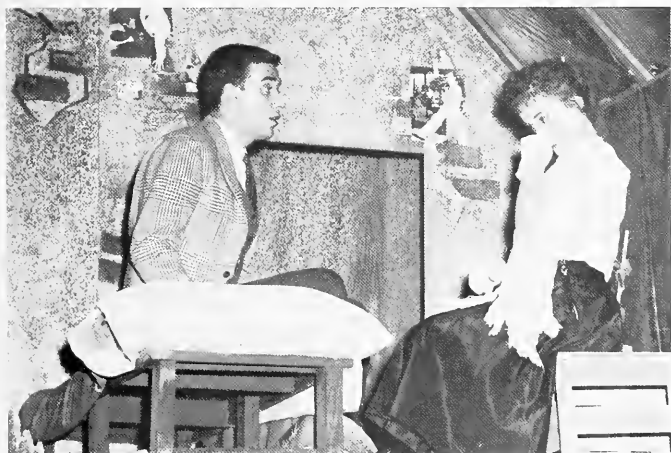

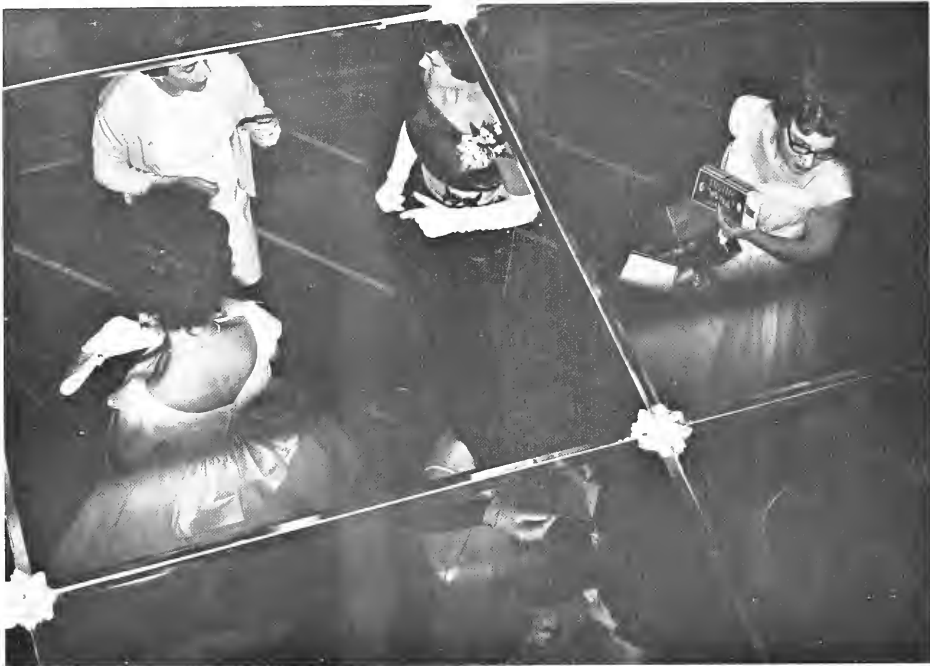

THE DIARY OF ANNE FRANK

One of the most successful performances ever witnessed in Memorial Auditorium was Players' production of the Broadway hit, The Diary of Anne Frank. The audience shared the tears and laughter of the Frank family and their companions, the Van Daans, during their tense period of hiding. A combination of serious drama and comedy, the play was well handled by an outstandingly capable cast.

INTER-SORORITY COTILLION

In February the Scotch Plains Country Club provided the setting for the first annual Inter-Sorority Cotillion. Helping to bolster the social prestige of their Alma Mater, nearly 300 Montclairites donned their finest ballroom attire to spend an evening on a crowded dance floor. Highlighting the affair was the formal presentation of 88 girls from eleven campus sororities.

FOOTBALL

CaptainDICK DEMASI

In his first year as head coach, Gerry Edwards introduced a number of innovations. Increased drilling, rigid enforcement of training rules, and more detailed scouting reports all contributed to the strength of the Montclair eleven. The most important win of the season was the Homecoming game, when MSC downed Trenton for the first time in five years. The end of an eight-game season saw the team still undefeated, perhaps the most pleasant innovation of all.

Co-Captains AL HECTOR, BOB GOODSTEIN

In the midst of a general rise in interest in soccer throughout the country, and the subsequent improvement of its calibre, the 1960 season saw the Montclair squad taking its knocks with the best of them. The six and eight season was a marked improvement over past years and one in which MSC managed to outscore the opposition.

Co-CaptainsROBERT MIZEREK, CHARLES WELCH

The fastest-growing sport in the United States, wrestling is the newest sport at Montclair State College.

Although the most important element in wrestling seems to be experience, MSC's first year of intercollegiate competition resulted in a six and three record, with two Metropolitan champions and one runner-up on the team. This year four returning veterans and four freshmen sparked the team to another successful season.

CaptainROBERT JACKSON

Montclair State has had consistently good teams on the golf course, and 1960 was no exception. Again the linksters gained fame for MSC by winning most of their games, and it is hoped and expected that they will end this season with an even better record than ever before.

The 1960-61 edition of the MSC basketball team took to the floor this year as the defending champion of the State College Conference. Seven returning lettermen spurred the team on to a good start, but the season was generally disappointing.

The court season this year was highlighted by the NAIA Christmas Tournament hosted by Montclair. Entering the tournament with a three and three record, the Indians caught fire and defeated Pace College and Glassboro State before losing to a very strong Maryland State in the finale.

FENCING

Coach CATHERINE TAYLOR
Co-Captains SONIA KUCHNICK, PAT WEBSTER

Under the guidance of Mrs. Cathy Taylor, former Inter-collegiate Fencing Champion, the Montclair State team prepared for another successful season this year. Off to a good start, the girls set the pace by placing high at the New Jersey Prep at Paterson State and followed through by making consistently fine showings for Montclair.

GYMNASTICS

Captains.....DORIS JOCHMANN, TONY NAPIER

The 1959-60 season was the first year of competition for the MSC gymnastics team. The men's and women's teams finished the season undefeated and returned to the collegiate sports scene this year in hopes of a second successful season.

Besides competing in gymnastics meets, the teams participate in exhibitions, helping to increase an interest in physical education and the fame of Panzer and Montclair State.

BASEBALL

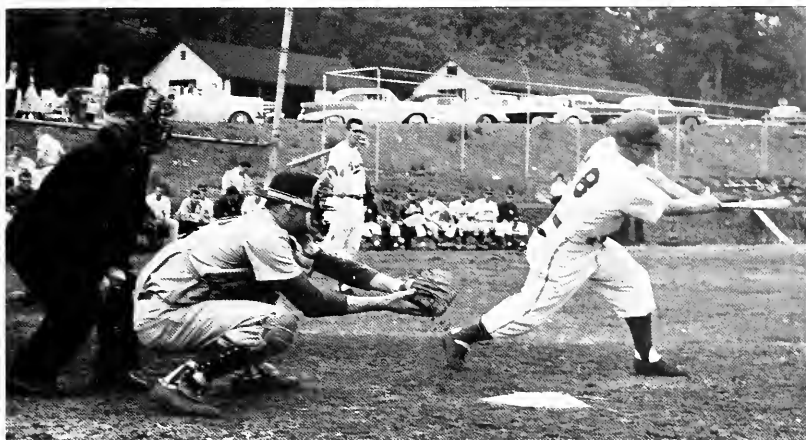

Coach WILLIAM P. DIOGUARDI
Co-Captains JACK BICKNELL, FRANK PETTINATO

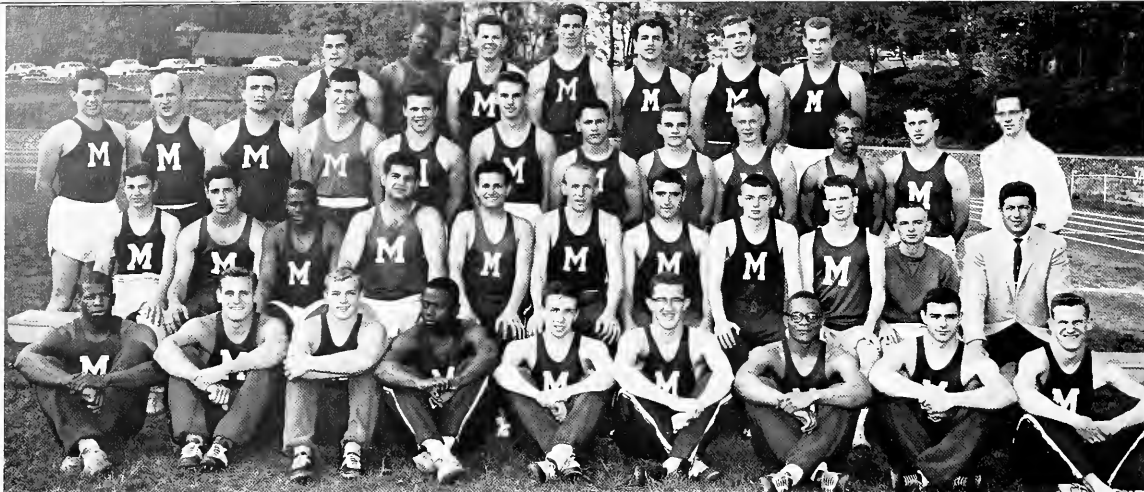

The 1960 season saw the traditional trip South replaced by the acquisition of a new pitching machine. The change turned out to be of value as the Indians, under the capable hands of Coach Bill Dioguardi, had its most successful season since he took over the reins at

MSC. Playing a 21-game schedule, the team compiled a sixteen and five record, enjoying eight- and five-game winning streaks, and finishing second in the NJSTCAC Conference, with a seven and three record.

With the loss of only two veterans, Coach Dioguardi is looking forward to another successful season and, perhaps, the NJSTCAC crown.

TRACK and FIELD

Coach GERALD EDWARDS
Co-Captains RONALD KULIK, WES REHBERG

While Dr. Richard Willing was touring the Middle East, Dr. Gerry Edwards handled the reins of the surging Montclair State thinclads.

The Indians compiled a five and one regular season record and placed second in the Collegiate Track Conference. At the NAIA District 31 Championships they scored easily, defeating their rivals from the district.

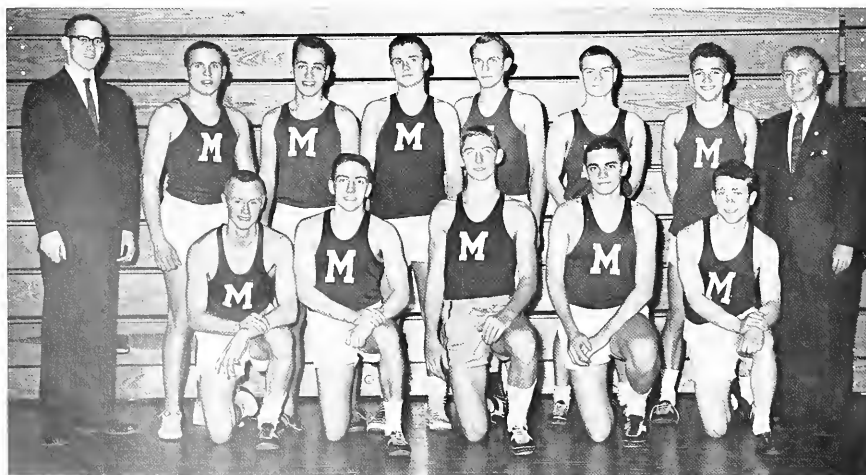

MSC's relay squad traversed the eastern and mid-west areas of the United States, winning medals at the Quantico Relays, the Penn Relays, the Queens-Iona Relays, and the National NAIA Track and Field Championships at Sioux Falls, South Dakota. The squad has accomplished much in the way of spreading the athletic name of Montclair State and is regarded as one of the powers of the Eastern seaboard.

CROSS COUNTRY

Coach RICHARD WILLING
Captain RICHARD TRENER

The 1960 Cross Country season saw Dr. Richard Willing return to the helm at Montclair State.

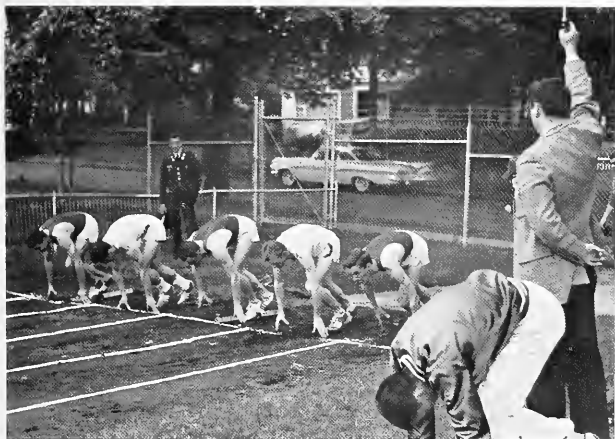

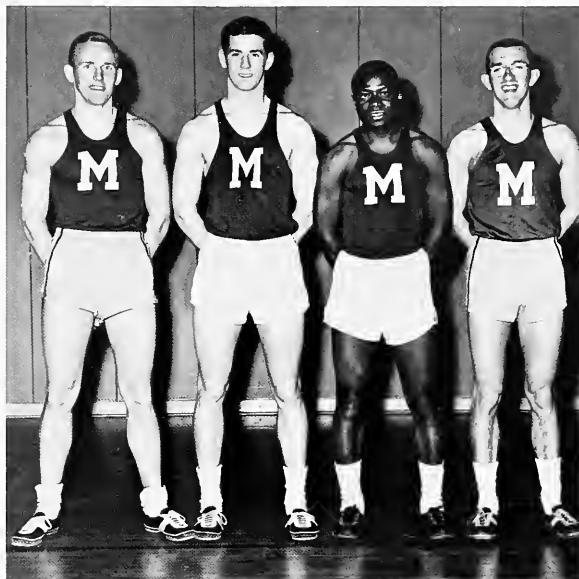

In spite of the fact that the team was young and inexperienced, they turned a rebuilding year into a winning season. Indian football enthusiasts saw the dual and triangular meets on Saturday afternoons before and during pigskin contests. The cindermen ran on to win the Junior AAU Championships and to place second in the NAIA Championships. At the Montclair Invitations Meet, the host team placed second.

In preserving a coordinated campus life, the Student Government Association encounters a trying challenge. Being both a helping hand and the controlling factor to clubs and campus organizations, it functions as the hub in the wheel of student activities. Although individual organizations on campus are relatively independent, they are all tied by a maze of purse strings and red tape to the coordinating body of the association, the Board of Trustees.

Comprised of the class presidents, class representatives, the president emeritus of the SGA, the Dean of the college, and the elected officers of the SGA, this board acts as the clearing house for ideas and plans which come from all areas of the campus.

A secondary aim of the SGA is to preserve and encourage a healthy schedule of social activity. Activities sponsored by the association this year included two concerts by George Shearing, the Hi-Los, and the Brothers Four, and a Christmas Semi-Formal Dance. These activities are sponsored by the Board of Trustees through its Social Committee. A special Carnival Committee is created each year to organize the annual spring Carnival. Two sophomores are appointed co-chairmen and they choose the various sub-committee chairmen from their class.

The Citizenship Committee, which has been in operation at Montclair for the past ten years, works toward the development of better citizenship at the college and in the community, state, and nation. Each year the committee undertakes such projects as blood drives, Parents' Day, Freshmen Orientation, and a Penny Drive in an effort to give practical demonstrations of citizenship in action.

Boosters' Association, which exists primarily to inspire school spirit at Montclair's athletic events, works closely with the college teams, coaches, and cheerleaders. Members of the organization take charge of the refreshment booths in the fieldhouse and lobby of the physical education building during the football and basketball games.

The Student Government Association, as evidenced by the scope of these committees, activities, and chartered organizations, touches directly every individual attending Montclair State College.

Kappa Delta Pi, the national honor society in education, honors those students who have shown outstanding scholastic achievement in all areas of concentrated study. The goal of the organization is to offer opportunities to its members to widen their scope of preparation for teaching.

The monthly meetings of the group usually focus upon members of the college faculty who are invited to speak about their particular fields. There are also numerous panel discussions in which members participate. The traditional "Coffee House," which is a farewell program for seniors, provides an opportunity for undergraduates and faculty members to discuss problems which arise during student teaching.

This year marked a change in the standards for admission to the organization. At present the group is composed of 45 students who have attained a minimum of 3.25 cumulative index and have been elected by a committee of faculty and Kappa Delta Pi members.

In publishing the creative writing of students whose literary productions are inherently keyed to the tone of their time, the Quarterly is consistently marked by progressive literary expression and a modern, often experimental, format. It attracts those interested in serious writing and good reading by leaving the lighter aspects of journalism to other publications. Despite an obscure rumor to the contrary, this unique literary magazine is a valuable asset to our college. Besides furnishing experience in literary criticism and magazine publication for its staff, the Quarterly offers the student body a representation of the creative endeavors of the more articulate members of its generation.

Editor-in-Chief	MADELINE JONES
Managing Editor	JOSEPH MORELLA
Business Manager	CARYLMEAD TRYON

Communications have come to the fore in the past few decades, and the nearness of once distant areas and events is commonplace. So, too, is the increased interest in the current events of our own campus, and Montclair students can rightfully demand the "inside story" on local affairs.

Within the compass of its weekly four pages, the Montclarion serves as a vehicle for controversy and student opinion. If an occasional gremlin results in the misprinting of words, the same can seldom be said of the news, editorials, and penetrating crystallization of local gossip which appear in each issue.

One of the most active constituents of the New Jersey Collegiate Press Association, the Montclarion has been honored by that body for its excellence of reporting and editorial thought.

INTER-SORORITY COUNCIL

FOUNDED: 1959
CHARTERED: 1960

Chairman VIRGINIA FARESE
Vice Chairman ANGELA ANDICO
Secretary SANDRA RAGONES
Corresponding Secretary-Treasurer
..... CONSTANCE YELLAND
Adviser MISS MARIE FRAZEE

After many months of "blood, sweat, and tears," the dream of an Inter-Sorority Council has finally been fulfilled at Montclair. This organization, for which a pressing need has long been felt, represents an awakening to the stubborn fact that nothing of value is ever wrought from chaos. With this thought in mind, the council was organized to unite the many individual sororities into a single unit working for the welfare of the college.

One of the major achievements of the council this year has been to establish a program of rushing formalities and to erase the erratic tactics previously employed during pledging.

The work of the council, however, does not end with the termination of formal rushing. The group also acts as a non-partisan mediation board in all disputes or questions which arise among the member organizations.

In addition to this, the council has established an ISC Scholarship Fund, an ISC picnic, and the formal ISC Cotillion, at which the new members of each sorority are presented.

Adviser MISS DOROTHY CUNNINGHAM

With Montclair growing so rapidly, there is always room for one more organization, particularly one that possesses as high a set of ideals as those of Alpha Chi Beta, one of the two new sororities added to our campus this year.

Along with the usual purposes of increasing school spirit and fostering togetherness among its members, the group carries out at least one service project outside the college each semester and invites foreign exchange students to its meetings.

The new sorority's activities include a Christmas party for retarded children and a program for befriending foreign students.

Dalphac, the oldest dorm-commuter sorority on campus, was originally organized by five dorm and five commuter women to develop feminine interest in the home and family. Today the Women of Dalphac are still busy developing interests, but have added to their goals the development of the individual sister's capacity for citizenship—and for whatever else the situation necessitates.

The wide range of activities in which the group participates accounts for its position of leadership on campus. The organization's annual Greek Sing is the only non-profit cultural contribution made to the college by a Greek letter organization. A not-so-cultural contribution is their traditional Carnival Show, which, along with a prize-winning souvenir booth and an annual attempt at Homecoming creativity, is an effort to add to the general well-being of the school. Their program also includes a picnic with Delta Omicron Pi and KRU, a lively encounter with Sigma on the basketball court, and an equally lively encounter with Agora at their annual Garret Mountain picnic.

DELTA OMICRON PI

FOUNDED: 1945
CHARTERED: 1958

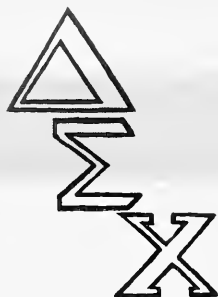

At the time that Delta Omicron Pi was founded, sororities were prohibited on campus and meetings were held in secret. The group was originally organized as a defense against a group already functioning in the dorm known as "Meyer's Mob" and operated for social purposes only.

Today Pi has successfully made the transition from one of the top dorm sororities to one of the top dorm-commuter groups. A co-ed picnic at Garret Mountain, theater parties to New York, an annual picnic with Dalphac, and a senior banquet are some of the activities which promote this sorority's ideals of stimulating social relationships and promoting the welfare of the college.

There is something very exciting about starting out with a new organization; there are no past failures to hold the group back, and although there are no established traditions to lean upon, the group has every opportunity to create memories and to engage in activities which may eventually become traditions.

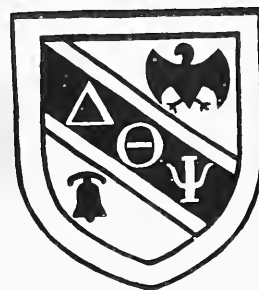

With the motto of "spirit, determination, and character" as a staunch support, the Women of Delta Sigma Chi have embarked upon a full schedule of banquets, parties, and picnics. Doing their share in promoting the welfare of the college, the group has provided cheering blocks at all athletic events in an effort to drive any remaining traces of apathy from the campus.

DELTA THETA PSI

FOUNDED: 1947
CHARTERED: 1956

In 1947 a sorority known as Delta Sharpe, was organized for music majors. In 1956 this organization, due to a lack of music majors, became a dorm sorority under the name of Delta Theta Psi and eventually took its present form as a dorm-commuter group. With the new status the interests of the group were broadened to include girls of many talents and interests, and its range of activities was no longer confined to the music world.

Today the Women of Delta Theta Psi demonstrate their varied interests and spirit of enthusiasm by engaging in such activities as Homecoming, Carnival, and Greek Sing. The sisters also show a spark of unselfishness by visiting orphanages with toys at Christmas. Visits are also made to fraternity parties at Stevens, although these expeditions are usually made without toys and are not restricted to the holiday season.

"Oh, for the life on the rolling sea," might well be the anthem of the KRU pledges as they sport their sailor hats and middies around campus. Even "KRU's Kruise," a living experiment in navigating with three sheets to the wind, reflects their preoccupation with the briny.

The Women of KRU also participate in many campus activities such as Greek Sing, Homecoming, and Carnival, and sponsor a Spring fashion show, Game Night, and an annual box-lunch sale. Then, just to be certain that all work doesn't make them dull sailors, the girls participate in the Inter-Fraternity-Sorority Dance, weekends at the shore, bowling parties, and picnics at the ever-popular Garret Mountain. All of these activities synthesized fulfill the organization's ideals of creating and strengthening friendships and bringing about harmony in social and college activities.

KAPPA SIGMA RHO

CHARTERED: 1958

As Montclair has grown there has been an ever-increasing need for more sororities on campus to enable female students to participate fully in college life. In 1958 the sisterhood of Kappa Sigma Rho was added to the list of chartered sororities and began to take an active part in campus functions. Using the equation "service plus social activities equals success," the group has arrived at a safe formula for establishing its program. The group participates in such activities as Greek Sing, Homecoming, and Carnival and works toward an increase of power and prestige on campus.

The sorority has attempted since its founding three years ago to cultivate in its members a knowledge and appreciation of fine arts, music, and science. Along with these more noble strivings are the usual social events which round out the individual. The group's activities include a Christmas party, an annual Alumni Dinner Dance, and a spring picnic and hayride. Not to remain merely an unknown clique on campus, the group also participates in Homecoming, Greek Sing, and Carnival.

MU SIGMA

CHARTERED: 1958

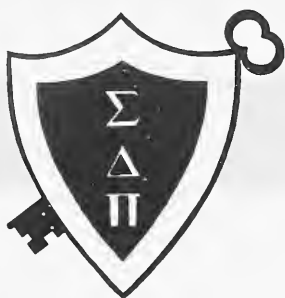

While most women try to hide their age, Mu Sigma is proud to boast that it is the oldest organized sorority on campus. Their switch to a dorm-commuter status has not dimmed their pride, and new sisters are introduced to the sorority's proud record at their initiation.

In addition to their participation in Carnival, Homecoming, and Greek Sing, the group sells their popular submarine sandwiches to hungry Montclair students. Highlights are added to the Mu Sigma social calendar in the form of a Christmas party, a Spring dinner dance, and an annual picnic to which each sister invites a non-sorority girl in an effort to foster new friendships.

Sigma Delta Pi, one of the oldest dorm-commuter sororities on campus, has succeeded throughout the years in accomplishing its purpose, that of promoting social development among the women students of the college and particularly among its own members.

A Mother-Daughter banquet, Christmas cocktail party, May weekend at the shore, annual dinner dance, annual senior banquet, basketball game with Dalphac, cake sales, Carnival, Skit Night, Homecoming, Greek Sing, snack bar sitting—these events and more stud the calendars of the women of Sigma. It's a wonder that the girls find time for academics they're so busy being busy. They've even been able to keep in line with campus pressure this year by assembling their new black and pink sorority dresses.

THETA CHI RHO

CHARTERED: 1954

The word "togetherness" must have been invented to describe the Women of Theta Chi Rho. Whether they're holding a "goodie sale," peddling their cream puffs, or practicing for Greek Sing, their comradeship and uniformity mark them unmistakably. Usually grouped en masse and dressed in their stylish blue chanel jackets, the group is easily recognizable anywhere on campus.

The Women of Theta are dedicated to the purposes of promoting sociability and sincerity among its members and of achieving active participation in all college functions. Ranking among this busy group's social activities are their senior farewell banquet, an alumnae Christmas banquet, and their notorious "summer reunion" at the shore.

Although Agora's original purpose, to sponsor discussions on political, philosophical, and educational problems, has mysteriously given way to a greater emphasis on athletic ability, and their public debates have been replaced by public "parties," the spirit of good fellowship and leadership within the group has never been altered.

Agora is an organization steeped in traditions, but not bogged down by them. Among these traditions are the annual Agora Show, the presentation of the Sandy MacMillan Award to the outstanding senior athlete, the annual basketball and softball games with Senate (or Phi Lambda Pi), and their annual Garret Mountain experiment in outdoor living, better known as the Agora-Dalphac picnic.

GAMMA DELTA CHI

FOUNDED: 1958
CHARTERED: 1958

In the three years since their founding, the Men of Gamma Delta Chi have worked diligently to establish and build a reputation for their fraternity. Before acceptance into the brotherhood new members must express a sincere desire to contribute time, effort, and knowledge in order that the group may enjoy a closer relationship, contribute actively to the campus functions, and be of service to the college.

Eager to display their sincerity of purpose, the group participates in Carnival and Homecoming and has initiated the sale of sandwiches to dorm students fleeing the horrors of the cafeteria. Their annual Decade of Discs Dance has continually proven that hard work reaps a harvest of reward.

The members of Lambda Chi Delta can be easily recognized by their bright orange and black jackets. The brightness of the jacket, however, only reflects the brightness of the group, which has made great strides since its founding.

Being both social and cultural in nature, the group sponsors lectures and film strips at its meetings to foster an understanding of the natural sciences and art. The feathered Indians who have been working hard at stirring up school spirit at Montclair's athletic events this past year can also be traced to the efforts of Lambda Chi Delta. The group's interest in the college is further shown by their participation in Homecoming, Greek Sing, and in the Inter-fraternity softball games.

PHI LAMBDA PI

FOUNDED: 1946
CHARTERED: 1946

Following World War II, Montclair's campus was flooded with a great number of veterans returning to catch up on the education which circumstances had denied them. It was this seasoned and mature group of men who founded Phi Lambda Pi. Within a year of its founding, the group had risen to a top position on campus.

Today the Men of Phi still enjoy a position of leadership and have added to their fame a reputation for partying second only to Elsa Maxwell. The brothers carry their freshman exuberance with them throughout their entire four years, which possibly accounts for the success of such Phi-sponsored events as the Campus Queen Dance and the annual Sock Hop and Pep Rally. The Men of Phi are also remembered in other quarters for their unique performances at Greek Sing and their experiments in home management at their Manasquan bungalow.

It is with the words of George Sand, "There is but one virtue, the eternal sacrifice of self," that the Men of Phi Sigma Epsilon punctuate their purpose of fostering brotherhood and service to their fraternity and to the college.

The landscaping of the new Home Management House on Paul Bunyan Day is one of the annual projects in which the boys engage. On the social side, the group holds an annual St. Valentine's Day Dance, and to help balance the books they present Hollywood spectaculars of reasonably recent vintage to the student body. They have also given outstanding performances at the Greek Sing, and to maintain their cultural level the brothers arrange theatre parties to Broadway plays.

It took a while for Montclair's youngest fraternity to settle on a name, but once they did there was no holding them back. When you start at the bottom there is no place to go but up.

Formed for the purpose of promoting athletics and school spirit, the men have carried out this ideal by the presentation of trophies to outstanding athletes and teams, the distribution of programs at athletic events, and participation in inter-fraternity sports events. The group has also shown its dogged spirit of enthusiasm by sponsoring a number of Friday night hops and have remained undiscouraged by the usual mass exodus to off-campus establishments.

To the Men of Senate belongs the distinction of being the oldest fraternity on campus. Originally sponsored by the English Department, the group conducted theatre parties, trips to art galleries and museums, and sponsored programs of classical and semi-classical music for the benefit of the student body.

Today, symbolized by the alliteration, tie, tea, and tradition, the name of Senate is still synonymous with intellectualism on our campus. The group's meetings usually focus upon topics of cultural interest; however, to counteract any tendency toward one-sidedness, the brothers also sponsor many social activities such as the Annual Autumn Dance and the Alumni Banquet. Physical exercise for the group is provided for in the lively basketball and softball games with the men of Agora.

TAU SIGMA DELTA

CHARTERED: 1955

If you were to judge by their fraternity blazers, you might assume that the Men of Tau Sigma Delta were a uniform and rather conservative group. The truth is, however, that the organization is made up of many different types, all following paths to an individual goal. This is not to imply that there is not harmony within the group, but only that there is variety.

Well known for their prize-winning jazz concerts at Carnival, the group also sponsors a Spring Dance, participates in Homecoming and Greek Sing, and holds cultural meetings in an effort to seek the truth in education.

A GOOD YEAR

It was the last year for Agora's high-bell . . .

. . . and the first year for ISC-supervised pledging.

FOR THE GREEKS

Everyone worked for Carnival . . .

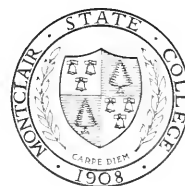

Agora never did play Senate.

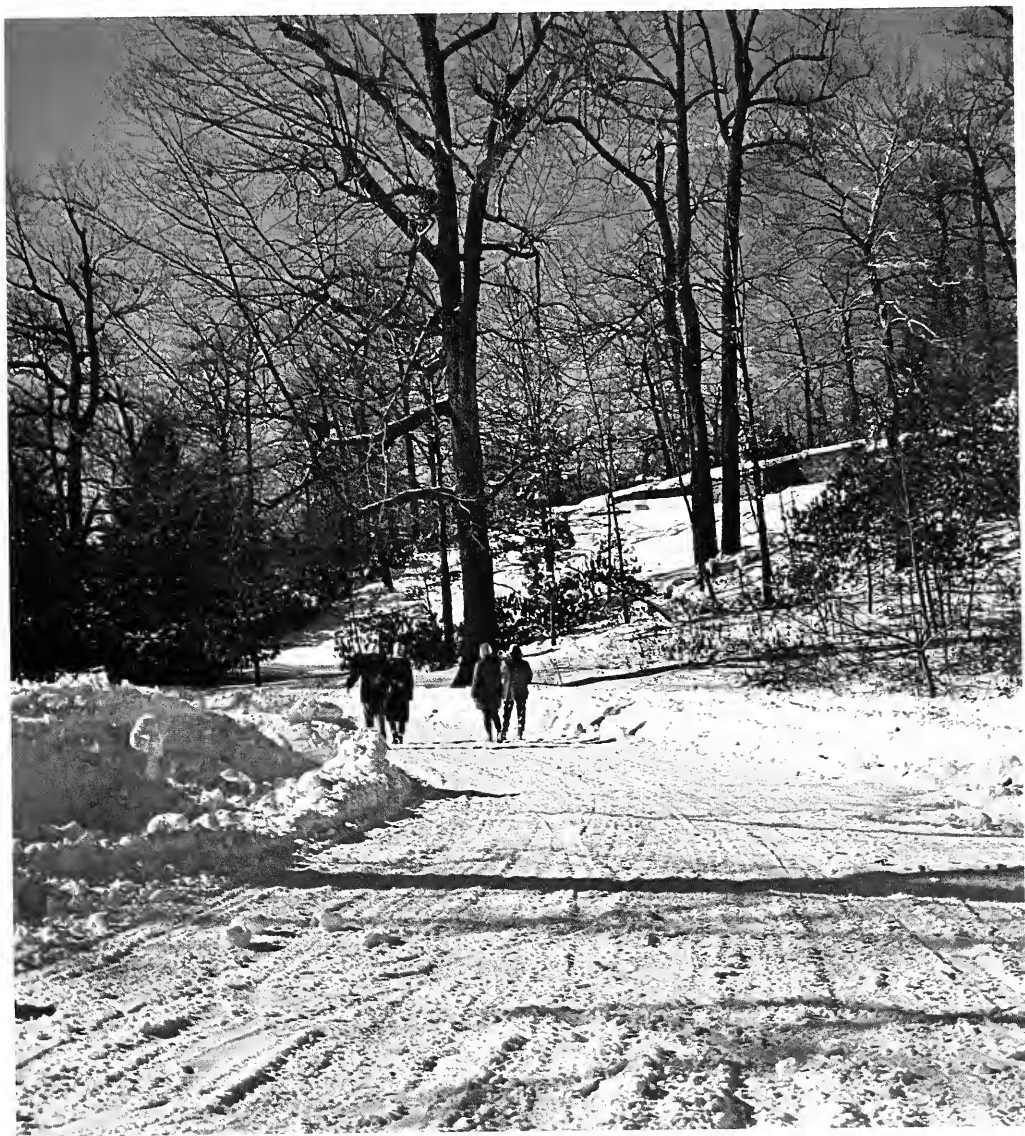

. . . even Stupifyin' Jones put in an appearance . . .

... and the Sock Hop was a huge success.

FRESHMAN YEAR

It was September, 1957; the sun was shining, the birds were singing, the sophomores were shouting, "Fire Drill," and we lowly freshmen were starting out on that great adventure that is College Life. We stood, our dinks at a rakish angle, clutching our rock-filled shopping bags and staring in awe at the Ad Building. (It amazed us that anything as antiquated as this could continue to stand.) Our eager eyes took in the campus scene—the amphitheater, the old dorms, the new dorms, Life Hall, the amphitheater, the new gym, Finley Hall, the amphitheater . . . (There was something about that amphitheater . . .)

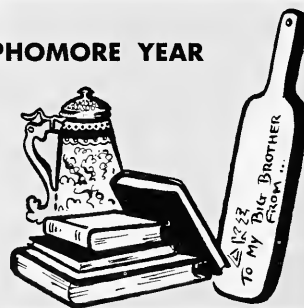

The first few weeks were a blur of registration and long lines—long lines at the book store, long lines at the cafeteria, long lines at the infirmary, long lines at the amphitheater . . .

It was not long after the initial shock wore off that we began to discover the basic truths of college life: that there is essentially little difference between a freshman and a senior, that Paul Bunyan Day has nothing to do with feet, that men do make passes at girls with glasses, and that Bobby Lyons was not a benevolent upperclassman.

Spring brought with it the move to the snack bar patio, the last minute term paper rush, and Carnival. All that was missing from our booth, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," was Prince Charming; like most of our class he failed to show up.

The year ended as abruptly as it began. There were the last minute cramming for exams, a round of picnics at Garret Mountain, and a resolution to do better next year.

SOPHOMORE YEAR

This was the year of Semi-Centennial. An impressive convocation was held in the now-familiar amphitheater, causing a chain of celebrations and an increase in the calendar trade. It was also the year that Panzer came. Eagerly the athletic department and the female population awaited their arrival. The athletic department was not disappointed.

Now we were the ones shouting "Fire Drill" and condemning frightened little freshmen to Rat Court. We were drunk with power (obtained with phoney proof). Social life was improving. (Headquarters was moved to the O.R.) There were bids to sororities and fraternities, and if we couldn't get into the one we wanted we started one of our own.

Our Homecoming float, "The Birth of Montclair," was aboard the biggest truck ever. Unfortunately, it didn't win anything—except a complaint from the irate neighbor whose lawn was mangled when the monster refused to clear the gate.

Undaunted by past failures, the class combined with the freshmen to sponsor the "Bohemian Jazz Party." Impressed with its success, we decided to strike out on our own, sponsoring "An Arabian Night." Unfortunately the dance turned out to be just another fairy tale; this was verified by a deficit in the treasurer's report. We were fast becoming known as the class that wasn't there.

We finished the year with another round of picnics at Garret Mountain and a resolution that we would do better next year.

CLASS

With the coming of our junior year we found ourselves assigned to the benevolent positions of big brothers and sisters. We felt an unusual surge of pride and school spirit as we expounded the wonders of Montclair to our freshmen charges. This was the year of COG, and if you weren't a COG you weren't anything.

We returned from our Junior Week experience convinced that we were not prepared to teach, and for awhile we stormed the library and hit the books. In a few days the trauma wore off and we returned to the snack bar.

The Junior Indian made a brief appearance as a challenge to the Montclarion; however, the Montclarion managed to rise to the challenge.

The SGA went all out to put MSC in the Blue Book of Colleges. The Kingston Trio packed the gym, Joni James sang at the Christmas Ball, and the Hi Los and George Shearing rounded out the season by performing at the Spring Concert.

With typical Montclair enthusiasm, the student body rose up with a cry to "Save the Hill." With typical Montclair indifference, they accepted the fact that the hill could not be saved.

Spring came once again, bringing another Carnival, another picnic season, and another resolution to do better next year.

SENIOR YEAR

Everybody suddenly began to realize that it was almost over. This would be the last Homecoming, the last Christmas dance, the end of so many things. In a valiant effort not to let it get away, we took up squatters' rights at the V.I.

Senior year became a year of firsts. For the first time we watched our football team complete an undefeated season, we attended a successful class dance, the Senior Informal, and we all worked together on a class project, the Homecoming float. More people than ever were attending class meetings.

With student-teaching fast approaching, everyone decided he was in the wrong major, that he didn't really want to teach, and that he was too young to die this way.

There was more to come, however—Senior Ball, boatride, banquet, and picnics all lay ahead; and if we were good and studied hard we would finally graduate in the amphitheater. (Oh! Is that what the amphitheater is for?)

LA CAMPANA

This year La Campana was compiled, edited, and shipped off to the printer in spite of the efforts of its harried and haggard group of editors and their always-willing-but-seldom-available staff. Assembled for their picture, blithely unaware of what lay before them, the smiling group met for the first and final time. Where all of the fortitude and driving energy which eventually completed the work originated is anybody's guess—least of all a staff member's. But after surmounting a thousand assorted obstacles and issuing an equal number of deadline extensions, the last few inches of overdue copy were wrung from a still damp editor and La Campana 1961 was pronounced finished.
